K-12 Education Design

Ada oversees instruction design and curriculum programming for Voyage's K-12 clients. Ada was previously employed by the New York City Department of Education (DOE) offering Professional Development services for 35 years. During Ada's career with the DOE she served in many different positions climbing the ranks from classroom teacher to Network Leader responsible for supervising an instructional team.

In her capacity as the Instructional Leader Ada supervised Professional Development Activities offered to Principals, Assistant Principals, Reading and Math Coaches, Bilingual, ESL, Early Childhood, Elementary and Middle School teachers and Instructional Specialists to submit their Professional Development Plans customized for each constituency.

Ada's goal is to provide the best support for clients through customized professional development plans based on improvement needs and has expertise in offering services to school leaders in the Evaluation Process, Quality Review and other areas. Ada enjoys helping others succeed and provides individual coaching and mentoring services for teachers and professionals seeking to become teachers.
